RENEWING YOUR PASSPORT

A pilot program for online passport renewals has proved so successful, the State Department said, that it has increased the number of applications it can accept per day.

The State Department removed the time limits in place previously but warned that the system still might not be operational 24 hours a day.

To be eligible for the online system, travelers must be U.S. citizens and residents 25 and older who have already had a passport with a 10-year validity, among other requirements. Here are a few:

- Applicants can't request a change to their name, gender, date of birth or place of birth.
- Applicants cannot be traveling internationally for at least eight weeks from the day they submit their application.
- Applicants must be applying only for a regular passport, and they possess their current passport. (It can't be lost, stolen, damaged or mutilated.)
- Applicants can pay with a credit card or debit card, and are able to upload a digital passport photo in the JPEG file format.
- An applicant's recent passport must have been issued between nine and 15 years before the application date.

Those who do not qualify for the online renewal process can still apply by mail.

Online renewal takes about 15 minutes to complete, agency officials said. The biggest advantage is that it saves applicants a trip to the post office and the extra delays of the mail. Whether you send by snail mail or virtually, though, the processing time is the same: six to eight weeks for standard service.

RAMBLING ROVERS TRI-CITIES

This is for you members who are not on our private Facebook page. Above is what it looks like. We have to invite you to join this group. Pat Fleming (She Pat) is the Facebook administrator and if you ask her, she will send you a link invite to join. Once she sees you have clicked on that link, she will approve your joining. Then in your browser look for RAMBLING ROVERS in all caps which is our page (versus Coeur d'Alene's page that has small letters). If you want a link invite, contact Pat at shepatfleming@gmail.com or call or text her at \(509\)539-5459.

At meetings, Linda talks about trips that she puts on the Rover Facebook page but if you don't want to join Facebook at all, those same trips will be in the Rover Newsletter on the first of each month. You can find that Rover website by searching in your browser for ramblingroverstravel.net

Click on Newsletter and also, a pretty nice extra is that our website specialist, Larry Smith, also places each trip on the calendar there and when you click on the trip, you will see the full flyer. This is especially handy if the trip doesn't appear in the newsletter any more, but perhaps someone has cancelled their trip and you are wishing you had more details to decide if you want to replace that person. The flyers will always be on the calendar.
